

National Guard Of Hawaii

By General Samuel I. Johnson.

Besides the millions of dollars which come to Hawaii every year for pay and support of the Regular Army, the Federal Treasury will contribute a tidy sum per annum for the pay of National Guardsmen, both officers and enlisted men being entitled to compensation for their services under the new National Defense Act. Pay for the National Guard of Hawaii, based on its present strength, will amount to a total of $358,899.00 per year, provided that every man lives up to the requirements of the service.

Hawaii's Guard now consists of a four regiments and one separate company of infantry, one troop of cavalry, one company of engineers, one company of signal corps, and a coast artillery corps now divided into three companies. This is the organization on which the above figures are based, the total strength June 30, 1916, being 233 commissioned officers and 4811 enlisted men of all arms and grades.

Pay for enlisted men of the Guard is based on 25 per cent of Regular Army pay for the same grade. The scale for officers is considerably smaller, $500 per year being the figure for captains and line officers of higher rank, $240 for first lieutenants and $200 for second lieutenants. Staff officers receive half the pay of a captain.

Pay day for the National Guard comes only twice a year, and consequently the amounts handed over the pay table will be substantial, even for the private, who will draw $22.50 every time the paymaster calls. Non-commissioned staff officers and enlisted specialists benefit in proportion, band leader, the highest paid enlisted, receiving $225 per year, or $112.50 every pay day. First sergeants will draw $1.25 per month, or $135 per year, and so on down through the various non-commissioned grades.

The distribution of $179,499.50 June 30 and December 31 of each year should make an appreciable increase in the circulating currency. Of this total a little more than a third will be disbursed to troops on Oahu, the balance being divided between Hawaii, Maui and Kauai.

Pay for the National Guard is a movement that has been in evidence for several years past, but not until this year did Congress think favorably enough of the measure to make it a law. The Guardsmen, however, are bound by much stricter regulations as to drill, attendance, and encampments, in consequence of their Federal pay, and they will have to work hard to earn their dollars. Forty-eight drills per year, not including fifteen days in camp or on the target range, are some of the qualifications required. Companies cannot drop below a minimum of 65, and a certain percentage of the company (the exact figures have not been published in regulations as yet) must be present at any drill or assembly for instruction before any member of the company can receive pay for that drill. Although this apparently might work a hardship on regular attendants, it is easy to see that some such provision is necessary to secure any benefit from instruction. The United States must get value received before it will pay its citizen soldiers.

PAUL R. ISENBERG WEDS MISS KOPKE

The Star-Bulletin of last Thursday contained the following news article of general interest on Kauai: D. Paul R. Isenberg, who left Honolulu on the steamer Matsonia July 26, was married in New York yesterday to Miss Bertha Kopke, according to a cablegram received late yesterday by Ernest Ross, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Kopke, father and mother of the bride.

No details of the wedding are given in the cablegram, which was brief. They are expected to return to Honolulu after a honeymoon trip of some months.

The bride is the fourth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kopke, and left here about two months ago for the East. Her father and mother were at the wedding, having left here some time ago, Mr. Kopke being on a vacation trip.

The groom was divorced two weeks ago. Mrs. Annie Bertrice Isenberg, his wife, filed her suit for divorce in the circuit court on June 24, alleging nonsupport. The divorce was granted by Circuit Judge Whitney on July 26. No order was made by the court regarding the payment of alimony. It is understood that this arrangement was settled outside of court. The day the divorce was granted was the day the groom-to-be sailed for the mainland, proceeding direct to New York.

The marriage came as a surprise to most of Mr. Isenberg's acquaintances.

Mrs. Isenberg is a younger sister of Mrs. Albert Waterhouse and Mrs. Ernest Ross, of Honolulu, and of Captain E. W. Kopke, of Kealia. She has visited Kauai a number of times and has many friends here.

Church At Kapaa

Sunday was a red letter day at the Kapaa church. Mr. Lydgate was there for the morning service and gave them a live talk which was the more enjoyable because it was in the vernacular. In the afternoon Mrs. Wm. Hyde Rice held a special meeting with the women of the local branch of the Hui Aloha which was well attended and developed much interest.

SUNDAY EVENING AT LIHUE CHURCH

By way of variety there was an evening service in the Lihue Union Church Sunday night, which was largely attended in spite of the summer depletion of the community, the service was largely musical, with a large element of congregational singing of the popular Brown and Curry hymns. Two numbers furnished by the Filipinos added much to the interest of the occasion. One of these, a motion song, by the very little tots, was "just as dear as it could be", and the other, by the adults, set to a Filipino air, was most original, weird and attractive, with just enough of the savage in it to give it snap and vitality.

The audience was very materially increased by a large contingent from Eleale. By special invitation, at the close of the service they adjourned to the Lydgates for coffee and sandwiches in consideration of their coming so far to a simple church service.

Dr. F. L. Putman, surgeon-major of the Fourth Infantry, has received a letter from the authorities at Washington asking if he would like an assignment with the troops at the Mexican border. Dr. Putman has replied that if a state of war existed he would be pleased to respond, but under present circumstances he regards his work here as more important.
